

AN ETERNAL MOMENT FROM NOW

An eternal moment from now
I hope to see God face to face, but for now I'm left blinded, surviving on His grace.
I have embraced all the pain
of the world's emptiness,
and it's left me holding so much less, wanting more than I can have in this world.

I know the day will come when joy won't fade away.
And I know I'll hold His peace
for more than just a day.
An eternal moment from now.
An eternal moment from now.

An eternal moment from now.
I will cast aside my sword,
and take off all my armor
to glorify my Lord.
I will stand beside the saints
in endless loving praise of the God who set my heart ablaze, wanting more than I could have in the world.
